Foundation officials feel confident they will reach that goal, due in no small part to the amount of auction items donated by local individuals and organizations. Items expected to bring in the highest bids are a $10,000 diamond bracelet, autographed sports memorabilia and an acoustic guitar autographed by country music stars, including Faith Hill, Keith Urban, Big Kenny and rock singer Brad Arnold.

The Jolly McCarty Rotary

Krebs, an Eagle Scout, is involved with the American Red Cross and Coastal Cleanup Program, he said.

Resurrection Principal Darnell Cuevas attended with Krebs and said the senior would be attending the University of Mississippi in the fall, majoring in linguistics.

The scholarship award was part of the annual Jolly McCarty Memorial Golf Tournament, Gala and Silent Auction, which begins Friday at the IP Casino in Biloxi.

Brandon Krebs, center, is awarded the $2,500 Jolly McCarty Rotary Scholarship on Wednesday by Bacot/McCarty Foundation Chairman Robert Maxwell and Resurrection High School Principal Darnell Cuevas. The senior standout earned the award by excelling at academics and civic involvement, officials said.

houses on De la Pointe Drive in Gautier. "My grandparents moved here in 1917," he said. "Grandfather worked for the L&N Railroad. He built this house in 1938. I always considered both houses my home."

When LeBatard's aunt passed away, she left him his grandfather's house in her will.

His grandfather was also a folk artist, fisherman and boat builder. "I loved to sit and listen to him talk about the old days while he knitted cast nets," LeBatard said. The pair went fishing together almost every day, until the grandfather fell at age 94, and LeBatard worried he might fall again. The grandfather lived to be 100.

"My grandfather piqued my interest in fishing and history," LeBatard said. His mother and grandmother sparked his love of singing. "Grandma had a beautiful voice. Mother too," LeBatard said.

His mother grew up on a farm — "no electricity, no radio. They were all musicians." After farm chores were done, the family would sit around making music — bluegrass and gospel.

LeBatard's love of music continues today. He takes his mother and her sister to Catfish Point on Miss. 63 in Wade about once a month. There they enjoy catfish and bluegrass music. "It's a slice of Americana," LeBatard said. "— A glimpse of a bygone era."

LeBatard is a Renaissance man. After graduating from Pascagoula High School in 1972, he attended the junior college in Gautier where he was valedictorian, and later graduated with top honors from the University of South Alabama in Mobile. He received his master's degree in social studies and language arts in 1977. He also took courses at the University of Southern Mississippi and Auburn University.

Along the way, he sang and acted. He sang with the volunteer chorus at Auburn, with the Gloria Dei ecumenical chamber choir and Musica Sacra in Mobile. He has been active with Gulf Coast Opera, and appeared in many performances of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, among others. He appeared in several plays with the Gulfport Little Theatre, Center Stage and KNS Theatre of Biloxi, and the Pas-Point Little Theatre.

"Singing is more than a hobby," LeBatard said. "It's an avocation. It brings me great joy, and it brings joy to other people."

LeBatard taught English and history at Pascagoula Junior High School for four years. His love of local history led him to his involvement with the Jackson County Historical Society, which later merged with the Jackson County Genealogical Society. He serves as chaplain for the combined organization.

LeBatard is active in his church. He is a deacon at St. Pierre Episcopal Church and is involved with ministry to elderly and shut-ins, as well as Samaritan Ministry, a food pantry.
